Habitat for Humanity is ranked as the sixth largest homebuilder in the United States in 2010, according to Builder magazine's annual survey. This is the second consecutive year Habitat has ranked in the top 10 and is the only nonprofit homebuilder to make the list.

"So many families in the United States and around the world face an incredible need for affordable housing, and this need only increases during challenging economic times", said Larry Gluth, senior vice president of U.S. and Canada for Habitat for Humanity International. " Habitat works every day to help these families, and we are grateful for the generosity of our donors, volunteers and advocates who have joined our efforts to help families obtain safe, decent and affordable homes and to strengthen communities."

In the United States, Habitat affiliates closed on 6,032 homes in 2010. Thank you to all the volunteers and supporters in the Silicon Valley who have helped with the building effort locally!

Join our Habitat ReStore Volunteer Team!

Habitat for Humanity Silicon Valley is excited to announce the beginning phase of our upcoming ReStore! The ReStore resale outlet will accept donated goods which will be sold to the general public at a fraction of the retail price. The proceeds of the store will help Habitat Silicon Valley expand its efforts by funding future construction projects in our community. Furthermore, our ReStore aligns perfectly with Habitat's Green Efforts by providing an environmentally and socially responsible way to keep reusable materials out of the waste stream.

Habitat will initially run the ReStore out of our Milpitas warehouse. We are looking for individual volunteers who want to become a part of our dynamic ReStore team! Volunteers will be responsible for warehouse organization, inventory control, processing donations, making our warehouse welcoming to shoppers and more.
